Pittsburgh, April 22 (P)—Approximately 200,000 more soft coal miners today answered the return-to-work call of John L. Lewis. Incomplete reports indicated at least 330,000 of the 400,000 bituminous miners are now back at work.

Work resumption was heavy in the big coal states—West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and Ohio—besides Illinois, Alabama, Colorado, Virginia and Tennessee.

The rapidly shrinking list of idle now embraced these states: West Virginia, 20,000; Pennsylvania, 19,750; Kentucky, 5,000; Alabama, 2,000 each; Utah, 900. Five comparatively small producing areas were unreported.

A back to work movement which gathered force late yesterday continued full swing this morning. Over the nation, new mines resumed operations as day shifts donned lamps and went to work.

Delays in calling together local meetings for a formal vote on returning held up work resumption in many areas. Some locals won't hold such meetings until late today or over the week-end. Leaders of the United Mine Workers and operators agreed a full scale resumption by Monday was virtually certain.

Late yesterday about 125,000 miners out of the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers were in the pits. The number was growing steadily today. Increasing supplies of coal enabled the U. S. Steel Corp. to announce operating rates were back to normal in almost every plant.

Tree Removal Fuss Dropped By Officials

With one side rejoicing and the other side moaning over the cutting down of a shade tree on the northeast side of Center square Tuesday afternoon, it appeared today that the status quo was to be preserved, and that the matter will be dropped without any prosecution.

"I don't think there will be any prosecution," Burgess C. A. Heiges said today. "I think that any idea of prosecuting the man who cut down the tree, or the person who ordered it cut down, if that person can be found, will be dropped," he added.

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said today that the only complaint received by him was from Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner, but no formal charge had been laid.

Referred to Burgess
Borough Solicitor Eugene V. Bulleit said that the matter had never been brought officially to his attention. "I know of no intention on the part of anyone to prosecute," he said. "However, it would be the duty of the Burgess to decide."

The tree, in which starlings and other birds have been accustomed to roost, is gone, and the man who cut it down is Donald Bolen, Hanover tree surgeon, according to Chief Harpster.

Bolen, according to the chief, could (Please Turn to Page Two)

Cooking School Expected To Surpass Any Given By Times In Years; Opens Wednesday

Gettysburg and Adams county residents, familiar in the past with cooking schools sponsored by The Gettysburg Times and several of the leading food stores and local merchants, will be offered a bigger, better-than-ever series of lectures at the 1948 school to be held in the Hotel Gettysburg annex three nights, April 28, 29 and 30.

A second cooking school, on the same elaborate plan as the Gettysburg sessions, will be held in Littlestown, at St. Aloysius school hall, on May 3 and 4. The dates were fixed and the cooking school given the whole-hearted endorsement of the late Rev. Fr. John H. Weber before his death and, although the church and school at Littlestown are observing a 30-day mourning period for their pastor, special permission was obtained to use the auditorium of the school as planned.

Because of the limited seating capacities of both the hotel annex and the St. Aloysius auditorium, no children under 16 years of age, whether accompanied by a parent or not, will be admitted. The cooking school sessions, however, are free and open to all other persons, 16 years of age or older.

Sessions Begin At 7:30 P. M.

be charged with the destruction of a shade tree on a public highway, either under Section 934 or Section 935 of the criminal code. The first, according to Harpster, provides for summary court action, with a fine, upon conviction, of $10, plus costs. The second section is listed as a misdemeanor, according to the chief, requiring court action.

Helped Tree Surgeon

"If the man who cut down the tree knows who ordered it done, the prosecution might shift to that person," the chief added.

It developed today that borough police, unwittingly, and the burgess as well, had a part in the felling of the tree in question.

The burgess said he received a telephone call relative to automobiles which were parked by the tree, and said he referred the matter to the police.

"I didn't know who was taking the tree down," he said. Chief Harpster was likewise in the dark. He said that Patrolman Kenneth Tawney took the license numbers of automobiles parked in the square and endeavored to find the owners and have them moved out of the tree surgeon's way.

Both the burgess and the chief of police knew, they said, that efforts have been made over a long period of time to have the borough authorities remove the tree.

Only Stump Remains

If local residents and borough authorities concerned assumed that the borough engineer had ordered the tree cut down, they were wrong. Winebrenner was also in the dark. But a borough highway crew removed the trunk and branches after the Hanover crew had finished.

The tree is gone. Nothing remains but the raw stump. Nearby offices and stores will miss what shade its leaves cast on hot summer days. But motorists who park their cars at this point on the square will appreciate the elimination of a feathered nuisance.

"It looks like the man who paid for cutting it down is the one who is stuck," Burgess Heiges said.

Henry M. Scharf, manager of the Hotel Gettysburg, who had tried unsuccessfully to have the borough remove the tree, paid Bolen $24, but he doesn't know who ordered Bolen to chop down the tree. He had offered to pay the expense involved in removing the tree by the borough and rather than have a dispute about payment, paid the bill.

by the corporation, making the bonds virtually tax free.

Outside brokers have already shown interest in purchasing the bonds, but they wish to bid on them thus hoping to obtain the bonds at less than par, Brown said. He added that the holding corporation hopes instead to sell the bonds to local people and organizations not only because in that way the holding company will save several thousand dollars, but because local owners would be more interested in the program of the school.

Discuss Service Charges

The holding company will be set up in about two weeks, Brown added, and bonds will be placed on sale shortly thereafter.

A discussion on service charges was conducted after which the service charge committee, headed by Bruce Macley was directed to continue its studies.

All banks present agreed to back a new government bond program, by stimulating interest in the bonds and urging people to buy them.

The May meeting of the organization will be omitted because it would conflict with the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association. The next session of the county group will be held in June.

President C. D. Krout, East Berlin, presided.

BULLETS HALT NAVY; MOUNT HERE FRIDAY

Ira Plank's Gettysburg college nine pulled a big surprise Wednesday afternoon by defeating the powerful Navy outfit 4-1 in a contest played at Annapolis. It marked but Navy's second defeat against six wins in collegiate competition.

Bill Brown, Coach Plank's converted third baseman, held Navy helpless throughout and permitted but one hit until the final frame when the midshipmen pushed over their lone tally.

The Bullets' first run came in the third inning. Hummel tripled and streaked over the plate on Buck's second error of the frame.

In the sixth the Plankmen scored twice. With one out Ecker singled and then forced by Tome. Atherholt singled and another error by Buck on Hummel's grounder scored the runners.

A walk, an error and a pair of puts enabled Ecker to score the final Gettysburg run in the eighth.

Navy finally broke its string of scoreless innings by tabbing a run in the last of the ninth. Fraher reached first base on an error. He reached second base as Boney and Brendie went out and then tallied when Buck singled to left.

The victory marked the third against but one defeat for the Plankmen.

BALTO. BULLETS WIN BAA TITLE

Baltimore, April 22 (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 88 to 73 last night, and captured the Basketball Association of America championship.

The Bullets hit the bulleye in four games out of six, to end the seven-game playoff series prematurely. The Baltimoreans thus captured the title in their first year of competition—although few had conceded them a chance to defeat last year's champions in the rugged playoff series.

The vanquished took an early lead, piling up the largest margin of the game—12 to 5—in the first period. But from then on the score was tied six times, with the lead changing hands four times, before the local team became masters of the situation.

Each team received $16,085 as its share of the $50,000 playoff melon. The Bullets won $9,385 with the title, while the losers' share was $6,700. But Philadelphia, eastern division winner during the regular season, also won $9,385 for defeating St. Louis, winner of the western division, in a best-of-seven series. Baltimore meanwhile picked up $6,700 and the right to play Philadelphia by beating the Chicago Stags and the New York Knickerbockers in two-of-three playoffs.

Maryland Golfers Halt Bullets 7-2

CARDINALS WIN AGAIN; PHILS UPSET BRAVES

By JOE REICHLER

(AP Sports Writer)
This is definitely a new year for Eddie Dyer and his St. Louis Cardinals. Just a year ago today, Dyer's Redbirds were in the midst of one of their worst early season slumps. A heavy favorite to retain the championship they won in 1946, the Cardinals got off on the wrong foot and dropped nine straight games. As it turned out, the Cards lost the flag then and there. But the picture is much brighter this year—thanks to some splendid pitching by Murry Dickson and George Munger.

Dickson gave up 10 hits in Tuesday's opener, but wound up with a 4-0 shutout. Munger allowed only five yesterday and registered a 5-2 victory over the same Cincinnati Reds. The two triumphs shoved the Cards into a first place tie with the Philadelphia Phils.

Ben Chapman's Phillies made it two in a row over the Boston Braves, taking yesterday's game 4-3 in 13 innings. A pair of walks, a sacrifice, a wild throw and Granville Hamner's long fly produced the winning tally.

Bill Voiselle was yanked for a pinch hitter after seven innings. Ernie White, a refugee from the coaching box, allowed only two hits in 5 1/2 innings of relief, but was charged with the defeat.

At the Polo Grounds the Giants flattened the Dodgers, 9-5, in one of the weirdest games in years. A crowd of 22,388 watched in amazement as five Brooklyn hurlers issued 13 free passes and gave up 11 hits, including two home runs.

Ralph Branca, Willard Ramsdell, Preacher Roe, John Hall and John Banta all tried their hands for the Dodgers.

The Giants' pitching wasn't much better. Sheldon Jones and Ken Trinkle also allowed 11 hits between them, including three home runs, but walked only four men.

Manager Leo Durocher used 24 players to set a record for most players in a nine-inning game. The Dodgers had the old one of 23 back in 1937.

Four Brooklyn second basemen—Jackie Robinson, Ed Miksis, Bob Ramazotti and Gene Mauch—saw action. Robinson retired after five innings because of a bone bruise on his left hand.

The homers were supplied by John Mize and Sid Gordon of the Giants, and Arky Vaughn, two, and Carl Furillo of the Dodgers.

Yankees Defeated
Bases on balls by Forrest Main forced in two Chicago runs in the ninth to help the Cubs defeat the Pirates in Pittsburgh, 6-3. Bill Nicholson and Andy Pafko hit home runs for the Cubs. Main had relieved Ernie Bonham in the ninth. Hank Borowy was the winning pitcher.

Bad pitching continued to plague the Yankees. The Washington Senators pounced upon Vic Raschi for five runs in the third inning and whipped the world champions 6-3, in the Capital City. Gil Coan's three-run homer proved the decisive blow. Southpaw Mickey Haefer spaced nine hits for his first win.

Detroit made it two in a row over the White Sox in Chicago, winning, 4-3, tying the Philadelphia Athletics for first place in the American league.

Stubby Overmire, who relieved starter Dizzy Trout in the seventh, pitched air-tight relief ball to receive credit for the Detroit victory. Earl Harrist, who replaced starter Orval Grove in the eighth, was charged with the defeat.

The Athletics and Red Sox were rained out in Boston, Cleveland and the St. Louis Browns were not scheduled.

Longer Stays For Pastors Are Urged

Reading, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Pastors in the Evangelical Union Brethren church should be permitted longer stays at individual churches to permit them time to carry out long range programs, the denomination's 109th annual conference was told last night.

Dr. Charles E. Kachel, of Reading, superintendent of the western district of the church's Eastern Pennsylvania Conference, said also that pastors should be given an opportunity to see the fruits of their labors realized.

The conference will extend through Sunday with a business session today and committee meetings scheduled tonight. Appointment of pastors will be announced on Sunday.

Former Philadelphia Sports Writer Dies

Philadelphia, April 22 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for George M. Young, 75, one-time Philadelphia Sports writer and son of the first president of the Philadelphia National league baseball club.

Young, who died Tuesday at his home, began his Philadelphia newspaper career on the Evening Item in 1895. Later he joined the sports department of the Times and then went with the Public Ledger as a baseball writer when the Times and Ledger were merged. He was the 16th president of the Philadelphia Sports Writers association.

After his newspaper days he managed the Garden Pier and Globe theater at Atlantic City, N. J., the Adelphi theater in Philadelphia, the Woods theater in Chicago, and the Alvin theater in Pittsburgh.

His father, George W. Young, owned the Philadelphia baseball club before its entry into the National league.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, April 22 (AP)—The eyes of Texas are on this spring—Bibb Falk's fifty Texas U. baseball team, that is. . . . After the Longhorns beat Southern Methodist last week, 21-0 (sounds like three touchdowns, all converted) the fans really began to rave. . . . One version says: "That magazine cover showing the Dodge rookies would have to be a double surprise to mug the material Falk gets. . . . Another: 'Falk won't be drawn out, but I think it is the best of a long line of ball teams here. It's 30 per cent better than the one that lost out to California in the western NCAA playoffs last year.' . . . The Texas-SMU game was a natural. . . . Bobby Layne, who hasn't lost a conference game in three seasons, pitched for Texas and had the pleasure of fanning his old football rival, Doak Walker, on the first try. Later Walker got one of the four S.M.U. hits, so that evened things a little.

FOUL SHOTS
Richard (Swede) Swiderski, up from the freshman basketball team, is trying for a halfback post on Hugh DeVore's St. Bonaventure college football squad. . . . In scrimmage the other day, Swede fumbled a handoff and instead of falling on the ball, he tried to dribble it a few times. . . . Of course he lost the ball. . . . Immediately there came a shout from Backfield Coach John Agnone: "Swede, you're not playing basketball. . . . And Line Coach Ken Stille echoed: "No. And if you were, you walked."

There were increasing signs of confusion and even dissension in the ranks of the Popular Front, particularly in the wake of a proposal by left-wing Socialist Giuseppe Romita that the pro-Communist Socialists attempt to "regain their independence."

A spokesman for De Gasperi said the premier undoubtedly would head the new government after parliamentary elections. He has been at the helm for 28 months. The informant said he probably would retain Giuseppe Saragat, head of the anti-Communist Socialists, as vice premier, and would keep several other anti-Communist ministers outside his own party.

Uncle Sam imported 1,663 tons of dried figs in 1946-47 and 921 tons of these came from Turkey.

There are more hoofed animals in America now than when the buffalo roamed.

Today's Talk

TO LIVE TOGETHER

The world today is obsessed with problems—but the greatest is that one which comes to us all, again and again: How are we of this earth to live together? Certainly we cannot live together by fighting one another. In the end that will only mean that no one will finally live!

This is a beautiful earth, and there is room for all—food enough for all, and jobs enough for all. The earth is pregnant with abundance for all, if rightly conserved and not wasted, but there must be a bringing together into an understanding that will give peace to the entire world. Hope and happiness are universal. But there must be a common language of understanding. Hate is the match that sets off the flames of war and destruction—perhaps, in the end, total oblivion. We may not like our neighbor, but so long as we let him live his own life, and he does the same for us, we can get along all right. As a matter of fact, each needs the other!

It is fallacious to think that because we have always had wars we must always have them. We had witchcraft once. We have it no more. War is savagery, and it is about time that we become civilized! War is pure waste, too. Nations have been long buried by it—and forgotten.

Our discoveries have become legion. We have comforts and amusing gadgets that would astound our forefathers, but we haven't learned the simplest of all problems—how to live together peacefully and happily, even profitably. There is the Golden Rule, for example. It could solve the troubles of all mankind—but it's too simple! It's too workable! We know too much—that is of no use to us. And so we flounder and spend our substance and life for guns and ammunition that only smother mankind and separate all into hate camps.

The Good Samaritan act was a wonderful one, but let us not shoot the fellow who "passed by on the other side," uncaring and uninterested. Perhaps he had a wrong bringing up! And perhaps he too might have been a prospective Samaritan! It might be a good idea to get him in conversation. Perhaps he might be a prospective friend, as well. It's worth thinking about—and acting upon, anyway.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "So You're Insignificant?"

THAT BULGE

(Experts say that bulges are the commonest flaws in the feminine figure.)

Put on the record, and once more Roll twenty minutes on the floor.

Now up and down and side to side, With arms extended high and wide.

Next, slowly counting: "One, two, three!"

Up with the leg and bend the knee.

This count from one to twenty goes: Bow from the waist and touch your toes.

With arms akimbo, turn and twist. The hips will grow if this be missed.

Why in such strenuous feats indulge? It's woman's battle of the bulge.

1,000 Acres Burned by Forest Fire: After burning over 1,000 acres of valuable timberland on Green Ridge in the south mountains west of here, the most destructive forest fire in this vicinity in recent years was brought under control Friday morning at 7 o'clock.

While the greater portion of the woodland burned was state owned, a number of privately owned tracts were destroyed or damaged. Through the efforts of volunteer fire fighters and a favorable shift in the wind, the property loss is believed to be small.

J. L. Williams, Caledonia, district forester, directed the efforts of the fire fighters.

"REDS" DEFEAT GIVES BOOST TO DEMOCRACIES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The victory of the anti-Communist forces in the Italian national election is giving a mighty lift to morale among the Democracies in their fight against totalitarian Communism.

This is particularly true of western Europe, across portions of which the shadow of Communism has been striking heavily. The reaction has been immediate and enthusiastic. The London Daily Express says the election is "the latest and most spectacular phase of the swing to the right which is now at work over western Europe."

From Jacob Kaiser, head of the Christian Democrats in Berlin, comes a somewhat similar view. He declares that the outcome of the election "confirms that no population in this world voluntarily will choose dictatorship when given a free, democratic election."

Must Make Good

All the evidence at hand since Bolshevism came to power in Russia in 1917 supports Kaiser's view. The whole history of Communism during the past generation is a story of an aim being thrust on unwilling peoples by trickery and force. There isn't a single one of Moscow's satellites in eastern Europe which would have accepted Communism if the people had been allowed a free vote. Apropos of this thought Winston Churchill describes the Italian elections as "an historic event."

What this means is well summed up by the London Times, which says the victorious Christian Democrats must now make good their claims "that they can give to Italy by constitutional means an economic and social rebirth that the Communists held out as a sequel to revolution."

Must End Distress

That's the answer for Italy—and it's the answer for every country which is threatened with the Red plague.

Communism drives its entering wedges by preying on distress and discontent. The war plowed the ground for Communism by creating chaotic conditions in many countries. Privation, including stark hunger, has been thrust upon numerous peoples—and when folk are hungry they think with their stomachs. They are ready to gamble on most anything which may produce food.

So the Democracies must demonstrate that they have something concrete which will take the place of the Red promises. And that is true not only for the countries where there is actual distress but in the more prosperous lands where there still is discontent because of economic and social conditions.

More than half of the world's people gain their living from the soil.

'BARGAIN RATE' COMPROMISE ON AIR POWER UP

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The administration laid a "bargain rate" air power compromise before Congress today aimed at giving the country 11 more fighting groups at a cost of $481,000,000.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal whipped up the proposal in a fresh effort to keep the Senate from following the lead of the House in insisting on a full 70-group air force.

Forrestal's plan calls for a 66 group program and a three-year national defense outlay of $46,000,000,000.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Services committee told a reporter he thinks Congress should accept the Forrestal offer.

Closed Door Session
He called his committee into another closed-door session today to try to win approval for the air force program and then turn to the equally hot issues of a temporary draft and universal military training.

Forrestal demonstrated by his compromise offer late yesterday that he can switch his strategy.

Previously he had insisted that a strengthened 55-group air force would be enough. Then some of his subordinates—Secretary of Air Syngmington and a group of air force generals—plunked for the 70-group program. It was rushed through the House as part of a money bill.

Other Considerations
If only military considerations were involved, Forrestal told Gurney's committee yesterday, "the wisdom of this step cannot be questioned."

But, he added, the full 70-group plan would add another nine billion dollars to the original 11 billions asked by President Truman, instead of the extra three billions the administration has proposed since the President laid down his stop-Russia policy a month ago.

And it also might mean "allocations, rationing, price controls and a host of other restrictions," the cabinet officer declared.

ABSOLVE STEEL FIRM IN DEATHS

Bethlehem, Pa., April 22 (AP)—A Northampton county coroner's jury last night absolved the Bethlehem Steel Corp. of any criminal negligence in the deaths of six men while blowing out a blast furnace last March 24.

The men were killed by a coke slide after the steel company had ordered the furnace shut down because of the soft coal mine work stoppage then in effect.

The jury, at the same time, recommended "greater safety precautions in the future."

Earl Morgan, head of the plant's safety department, who was one of the last witnesses to appear before the jury, said that on the morning of the blast furnace mishap a check was made to determine whether all workers were wearing protective equipment.

Noel Beddow, a blast furnace expert for the CIO, who was recalled to testify at his own request, said he felt the safety methods employed

New Styles For Men On Display Tonight

Los Angeles, April 22 (AP)—Ahoy, men! Man your battle stations! The clothes designers are about to unload a fashion ukase.

In a preview for the press, the custom tailors and designers broke out such stuff as this—

Aqua blue tuxedos; sports coats padded in the shoulder to make you look like a weight lifter; such sportswear combinations as moss green jackets with dark green coats; business suits of black and white; district checks with gold overplaid; smoke white camel's hair topcoats and pearl gray double-breasted vests.

The designers are going to show all this and more tonight to 400 influential clothes creators. Sorta by the steel firm were "deplorable," adding "I have never seen such a lack of coordination between management and safety department."

The inquest, called by Dr. David F. Bachman, county coroner, was concluded last night after having been continued on several previous occasions.

ARAB LEADERS SUE FOR PEACE AT PORT CITY

Haifa, Palestine, April 22 (AP)—Jews virtually seized control today of Palestine's richest port city of Haifa after heavy all-night fighting.

Arab leaders sued for peace asking British military authorities to mediate.

"It was a massacre," said one Arab spokesman. "It was another Stalingrad. We were not prepared."

By request of the British, the Jewish military force Haganah issued a cease-fire order shortly after noon.

A Haganah spokesman said terms handed the Arab National Committee included: Disarmament of all Arab forces and surrender of all spreading the ideas around, as it were. You fellows may have to wear it. Just thought you should be forewarned.

arms; freedom of movement in all parts of Haifa with an end to sniping and road blocks; delivery of all foreign Arab troops to Haganah for immediate deportation; surrender of all German Nazis; a 24-hour curfew during the Arab disarmament would be carried out; all persons to return to their normal pursuits.

Disagree On Casualties

A guarantee that Arabs could carry on their lives and work as free and equal citizens of Haifa and enjoy all municipal services; the security of Haifa outside British zones to be maintained by Haganah, and Haganah orders to be binding on both Arabs and Jews.

There was every indication from Arab sources that Arab National Committee members still in Haifa will accept the Haganah conditions.

One Arab spokesman declared: "Many women and children in Arab areas were shot as they attempted to flee into the port area."

The port area is controlled by British security forces. A Haganah spokesman denied the accusation.

Used Mortars, Bren Guns
"Arab casualties were only 10 per cent of what we had expected," he said. "As for women and children there just haven't been any such thing. We deny it most emphatically."

The Haganah spokesman said the Jewish attackers suffered four killed and 32 or 34 wounded. He estimated the Arab dead at "not more than 20."

Haganah forces, aided by one detachment of the underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi, moved down from the all-Jewish area of Hadar Carmel halfway up Mount Carmel.

"We used mortars, Bren guns and Sten guns in an attack which lasted much less longer than we thought would be necessary," the spokesman said. "One unit of Irgun was with us. They wanted to participate and we weren't prepared to say no."

ENGLAND DROPS DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDERERS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

England after a mighty struggle with her conscience over long generations, finally has decided through the medium of her House of Commons to abolish capital punishment for murder during a trial period of five years.

The vote for this notable experiment—245 to 222—came after a dramatic seven-hour debate over the question of whether to hang or not to hang—a penalty which has been exacted for some 800 years. The verdict represented a defeat for government views, though it wasn't a political reverse, since the Labor (Socialist) government had given the rank and file of its party the privilege of voting as they saw fit, and even permitted members with minor ministerial posts to abstain.

The Conservatives, whose leaders were against abolishment, also split and thus became non-partisan, with Socialists and Conservatives voting according to their personal leanings. It was a remarkable event. The measure still must go through other stages in Commons and must pass the House of Lords, but the government already has accepted it as law by replying to two men who were about to go to the gallows for murder. They have received life sentences.

Ends Long Battle

In the debate the government fought the measure on the grounds that it was essential for the protection of society and that abolishment would increase homicides. Advocates replied with humanitarian arguments and a particularly cogent point was made by Socialist R. T. Paget, who cited cases in which innocent people had been hanged.

"Only God and the accused know the real truth," he declared. "This isn't the first time, by any means, that an effort has been made in Commons to do away with hanging for homicide—a move, by the way, which doesn't affect the death penalty for treason, sabotage of the Royal dockyards and piracy. Previously, however, the government has beaten down the proposal with its plea of necessity."

Renewal of the proposal now was, I suspect, partly a psychological reaction to all the bloodshed and hatreds which have attended the World War. The impulse was humanitarian and undoubtedly religion entered into it strongly, for England still remembers the commandment: "Thou shalt not kill."

VALLEY FORGE ON 'PIKE ROUTE

Valley Forge, Pa., April 22 (P)—Not since Revolutionary days has Valley Forge been in such a turmoil.

The state of Pennsylvania disclosed it plans to push the $70,000,000 Pennsylvania turnpike right through the rolling green acres of the Revolutionary army encampment.

The proposed Harrisburg-Philadelphia extension of the four lane toll superhighway will skirt Valley Forge State park but will cut directly across some historic sites now occupied by private owners.

The largest estate affected is that of the late John R. K. Scott, wealthy Philadelphia attorney. His son, U. S. Rep. Hardie Scott (R-Pa.) said he is appalled at the prospect but he doesn't know just what to do.

Among the 23 buildings on the 450 Scott acres is the former headquarters of General Mifflin, chief quartermaster in Washington's army. Other structures to be separated by the road are the former headquarters of General Wayne, and General Stirling, Knox and Muhlenberg; also of the French generals, Lafayette and Duportail and the Polish hero, Pulaski.

This service was an observance of the first anniversary of the organization of the young people's group. Monday evening the members held a covered dish luncheon in the church social rooms. Following the luncheon a social period consisting of songs and a play, "The Family Album," were presented.

HAUNTED HOLIDAY

Chapter 20

Kalanii was steeped in silence. Vince stood at the bedroom window, not because he was interested in the twinkling lights of the distant shoreline that was gradually vanishing before a creeping curtain of night mist but because Dr. Palmer was undressing and probably suffering untold embarrassment.

Therefore it was doubly startling to hear Palmer's voice over his left shoulder, a voice that held menace and an undercurrent of terror.

"All right, Bonnay, where is it?" Vince spun around. "Where is what?"

"The packet I put in your suitcase," Palmer's eyes blinked rapidly. "So you put it there?" Vince said softly.

"Yes, I expected to get up here before you did and remove it."

"Well, you made a mistake, Palmer. Did you forget that I was here during both murders? I am as suspect as the rest of you. They searched my things too."

Dr. Palmer looked visibly shocked. "Tell me where they put it?"

"Johanson sent it into town—it's gone."

"But I've got to have it! I'm—I'm—"

"I know," Vince said bluntly. "You're an addict."

The doctor winced. "Yes, I don't take much but I've got to have it regularly. If I don't get it—His voice grew shrill with fear."

A tremor passed over Palmer's thin frame; he reached out and took the lapels of Vince's dressing gown in his frantic fingers. "See if you can't persuade Johanson to bring some of it back! I'll make it worth your while."

Vince stared incredulously. "Even if you could bribe me, Palmer, I know Johanson wouldn't do it. He's an honest cop. I think your best bet is to tell him everything, then maybe he'll help you. Try to get hold of yourself."

Vince found Johanson poking in the long-dead ashes of Mannley's bedroom fireplace. "You'd better come upstairs," he hinted. "Palmer is about ready for a straightjacket. I think he'll talk now."

"So it was he! What's the matter—time for another dose?"

"I think it's just plain fear, the fear of being deprived of it."

"This ought to be interesting," Johanson commented. "The ambulance just got back from town with the bloodhounds and two telegrams from the Honolulu police. One of them concerns Palmer. It seems he does not enjoy an exactly spotless reputation among his colleagues."

They found the doctor sitting on the edge of his bed, his face cupped in his hands. He looked up nervously as Johanson cleared his throat. "Listen to this, Palmer," he began to read from a telegram in his hand. "Palmer arrived in Islands 1926 . . . dishonorable discharge Army 1929 . . . no record of medical degree . . . regarded as quack here and suspected of drug traffic . . . known to consort with Honolulu criminal element . . . employed by Mannley as doctor for plantation labor . . . more following."

"Is that correct, Doctor?" Vince said.

Scarlet seeped through Palmer's thin skin and crept to his hairline.

"I am not a quack, I graduated from a reputable medical college in Missouri. It is not well-known but it's standing is excellent."

"What about this dishonorable discharge?" Johanson prompted.

"During the last war I was given morphine medically and I developed the habit. I was caught stealing some from the dispensary and court-martialed. I heard there was a doctor shortage in the Islands so after graduating from medical school I went there. I didn't make much money but after a few years I met Mannley and he gave me a job as medical inspector of his plantations. He couldn't get anyone else to do it as cheaply," he added bitterly.

"Were you still taking morphine?" Johanson asked him.

"No, I switched to opium. The Japs brought it in and it was cheaper. The cocaine was just in case of an emergency."

The telegram crackled in the investigator's fingers. "I think your memory needs a little prodding, Palmer. Listen to the rest of this:

"Several of Mannley's laborers have confessed that Palmer was supplying them regularly with cocaine at steep prices."

"I was only carrying out Mannley's orders!" the doctor protested.

"Are you telling us Simeon Mannley was engaged in the drug traffic?"

"Yes, but not until just before Pearl Harbor. He guessed the supply would be cut off from the Orient and invested an enormous sum in a Peruvian ring of cocaine smugglers. Half of the supply came from South America early in '42. He had me give it to the laborers during medical treatment and they became addicted gradually. His cane and cattle business had fallen off but he made a new fortune out of the drug distribution."

"And so you let him make a sucker out of you," Johanson said.

"He underpaid me if that's what you mean. That's why I came here—things were getting hot! I didn't see why I should hold the bag alone."

"And when you told him that the morning of Friday the 13th he told you off and you let him have it with the pearl diver's knife, eh Palmer?"

Palmer looked genuinely surprised. "No, I didn't kill Simeon. Bonnay can tell you that—we shared the same room all night."

Vince smiled thinly. "Malaria made me a light sleeper, Doctor. I woke up at two that morning and your bed was empty."

A chill shook Palmer's shoulders and traveled over his entire body. Johanson struck a match on his boot sole. "That alters things, eh?"

"No," Palmer said slowly. "I had witnesses to my whereabouts then."

"Witnesses!"

"Yes, I was in the Donovans' room all the time. I knew them in Honolulu in '27—they were with a traveling vaudeville troupe. I wanted to find out why they had come to Kalanii but they wouldn't confide in me."

Chapter 21

The sprawling house of Simeon Mannley was silent with the deep death-like stillness of midnight. Presumably the occupants were sleeping.

Vince Bonnay, however, lay wondering if he were doomed to become a chronic insomniac. He was horribly aware of the troubled breathing issuing from Dr. Palmer's bed next to his and of each creak and whisper of the old house as the damp weather began to affect it. Nor could he forget the ugly significance of a telegram Johanson had received from the Honolulu police.

"Regarding Julia Mannley," it said, "attended University here for two years, majored in English, Civics and Art. Member of Liberal Arts Club, Musical Society, Captain of Women's Archery Team 1 and 2."

Women's Archery Team! That could mean everything or nothing and he had seen the sardonic glitter in Johanson's eyes as he read the words aloud.

In fancy he penetrated the wall facing him and gazed down at the sleeping girl in the next room. It wasn't hard to visualize Julia, her hair spread out in a golden fan, her lips parted slightly in dreamless sleep. Was it innocent and dreamless though, or the harried hag-ridden nightmare of a clever murderer?

He turned on his left side and a second later was watching the bedroom door swing silently inward as the bulky figure of a man was silhouetted then slipped toward his bed and bent over him.

"Commander?" Bates struggled to hold down a husky whisper.

"Yes, What's the trouble?"

"That Deveraux dame in the end room. She's up to something! She's comin' out of her room and I just saw the Chief and Miller headin' down the beach with the dawgs."

"What'll I do?"

"Stay here. Keep an eye on the doctor. I'll follow her. Where's Warner?"

"Downstairs somewhere."

Vince donned his dressing gown and stepped into the hall. Moonlight, mist bedimmed, poured through the leaded panes making cross-barred areas of light on the thick Chinese runner. A silver-sandaled foot followed by a wisp of chiffon crept through one of these patterns. Vince took up the trail.

He let Sonia stay well ahead of him. She drifted before him almost a vision but at the junction of the stairs and entry to a pantry a third figure emerged from the shadows. The metal nose of a revolver sought and found the region of Vince's heart.

"What are you doing down here, Commander?"

"Oh it's you, Warner." Vince's voice almost broke with relief. "I'm following Miss Deveraux—she's planning something, it may be a clue."

"But I'm supposed to guard this floor!" Warner protested.

"That's right—just don't let her see you. I'll accept the responsibility if anything goes wrong."

The gun was withdrawn reluctantly and Vince continued down the lower hall. Johanson had taken over Mannley's bedroom for himself and Sonia had slipped into it. The door yawned. She must have seen the investigator leaving the house to take such a chance. Vince decided.

The tiny circle of a flashlight was darting over the bedclothes then moved on to make a thorough circuit of the molding and baseboard under the bed and went out completely. Vince heard a frustrated sigh then Sonia left Mannley's room and slipped past the forbidding Samurai armor into the vast vault of the living room and went to the window overlooking the terrace. Vince lost in admiration of the picture she made stumbled over a footstool and swore.

"Who . . . who ees there?" Sonia's voice trembled.

"Vince Bonnay," he said quickly then wondered if that would be so very reassuring. For all Sonia knew, unless she herself was guilty, he might very well be the murderer.

"Why are you wandering around in the dark, Sonia?"

"I am not afraid of the dark or what the darkness holds," she laughed softly. "Why would anyone want to keel me, Sonia Deveraux?"

"A maniac doesn't need a reason," he quoted Johanson.

"Non? Then I am glad you are here to protect me. Come closer cherie."

A soft hand reached for his, drew him forward, Vince felt his defenses crumbling. "But you haven't answered me, Sonia?"

"Ah must you always be the watchdog? Very well, I tell you, I am standing by my window looking out onto the night when I see a shadow come around the weening of the house. I thenk maybe eet ees Hugh. He ees so pitiful and lost like a child and polceee weel terrify heem so I come down to admit heem."

"Are you certain it was Hugh?"

"Non, but it walked like heem—crouched over like an animal."

Her words trailed off vaguely but when next she spoke her voice had a determined timbre. "Veence, weel you help me?"

He tried to conceal his surprise. "How? What do you mean?"

"I mus' leave here. I haf nothing to do weeth thees murder. I want to see my counsel about returning to my own cuntry now that war is over."

"I'm afraid you overestimate my importance, my dear—I am just as much involved in this case as anyone. We can only hope . . . What was that?"

Instinctively as Sonia gave a little frightened cry he clasped her to him. The direction of the moonlight through the fog had made the glass opaque from their side; only a few feet away, beyond the panes a shadow had moved suddenly!

Now as they watched in tense rigidity, a flashlight snapped on almost blinding them. And then they saw the easily recognizable shadow of Hugh Mannley rise from his crouching position by the sill and swing about defensively as a hand descended on his shoulder. He emitted a shuddering animal cry that sent shivers of fear coursing through their bodies.

Office Workers Stranded By Fire

Philadelphia, April 22 (P)—An estimated 20,000 homeward bound office workers were stranded during the rush hour last night when fire in a Philadelphia Electric Co. substation shut off power to the Broad Street subway.

The power failure affected only that portion of the subway line between City Hall station in central Philadelphia and the northern terminal at Olney avenue. However, additional trains were forced to stop south of City Hall to the Snyder avenue station at the southern end of the line.

Police estimated about 15,000 persons were on the trains forced to halt, while an additional 5,000 were left waiting for nearly a half hour on station platforms while firemen extinguished the blaze at Columbia avenue and the Delaware river.

Urges Changes In Flood Control Bill

Washington, April 22 (P)—Two important amendments to the flood control bill that will be reported to the House soon were introduced by Rep. Muhlenberg (R-Pa.). Muhlenberg, an architect and engineer, says he considers them his chief accomplishments.

One would permit the Army Engineers to go ahead with small flood control jobs without awaiting authorization of Congress. The second would permit the engineers to extend, strengthen and do other limited work on flood control levees without Congressional permission. At present they can only repair levees that have broken.

CONGRESS HAS REINS IN FIGHT OVER MILITARY

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, April 22 (P)—Congress, not the President, will settle arguments in the military's official family.

This is made plain in the powerful Congressional support given to demands for a bigger air force despite the insistence of Secretary of Defense Forrestal, backed by President Truman, that the army and navy should be expanded equally.

Last year's unification law which set up Forrestal's defense department provided that if any one of the three service secretaries—army, navy or air—disagreed with Forrestal the dispute could be appealed to the White House. But Congress seems to have taken the ball.

The immediate issue is the size of the air force. The air arm proposed at the close of the war that the peacetime organization be 70 groups of combat planes.

But the White House and Budget Bureau decided that economy demands left money enough to support only 55 groups. The air force bowed to the decision for two years, but did not recede from its ultimate goal of 70 groups.

Forrestal, presenting the overall military budget to Congress this spring, proposed 55 groups and recommended that the air force's manpower be set at 362,900. Later he agreed to a manpower expansion to 400,000 but held fast to the 55-group force plan.

He contended that expansion be-

Boeing Airplane Workers Strike

Seattle, April 22 (P)—A strike of Boeing Airplane company's 13,000 employees began early today over a wage dispute.

The strike followed failure of federal conciliators to bring about a meeting between the Aeronautical Mechanics union (Ind.) and company representatives.

The company yesterday turned down union proposals for a wage increase of 30 cents an hour or for arbitration of their wage dispute. Each side has contended that the other wanted to arbitrate "on its own terms."

The plant is producing B-50 bombers and strato-freighters for the army.

yond that size would require corresponding increases in the size of the army and navy to support the operations of the air force with transportation, supplies, defense of supply lines and other aid.

But Secretary for Air Symington, in a recent appearance before the House armed services committee headed by Chairman Andrews (R-N. Y.), was asked if a 70-group force was needed. He answered yes. The House thereupon voted an amendment to the pending defense appropriation bill which would provide for a 70-group force.

There the matter rested until yesterday when Forrestal went to the Senate armed services committee, headed by Chairman Gurney (R-S. D.). He proposed what amounted to a compromise—a $46,000,000 three-year program for defense, with the keynote on air power.

He still disagreed with the 70-group idea and proposed instead 66 groups. The four groups he would eliminate are not essential to a peacetime force. Two would be light bombers, used for close-in, tactical bombing to support front-line ground action. Two would be troop carrier groups, used for quick transfer of ground troops to critical areas.

EXPECT TRUMAN TO URGE USE OF POLICE TROOPS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, April 22 (AP)—Administration officials predicted today that President Truman will ask Congress to approve any use of American troops to police Palestine.

This apparently does not rule out the chance that the President might in an extreme emergency, order limited forces into the Holy Land to protect American lives and property.

Marines might be used in that event, although there is no clear indication that this will happen.

Officials are deeply concerned, however, lest Arab-Jewish fighting flare on an even larger scale next month when the British start withdrawing their troops.

Wanted Help

Warren R. Austin, American delegate, told the United Nations special assembly session on Palestine Tuesday that the United States is prepared to send troops to the Holy Land to support a trusteeship government on two conditions:

First, other nations must also provide forces; second, Arabs and Jews must agree to a truce.

In Washington this promptly raised a question as to the President's authority to use American armed forces. Austin's statement was criticized in the House yesterday as making a commitment in violation of the law giving this government the right to membership in the United Nations.

Truman Has Power

This law authorized the President to negotiate agreements with other U.N. members for an international police force. These agreements would then be subject to Congressional approval. But the agreements never have been made.

RIGID AIR RULES URGED BY USSR FOR BERLIN AREA

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, April 22 (AP)—A Russian commission recommended rigid new restrictions today on air traffic of the western allies in and out of Berlin.

The six-man commission, set up to investigate a British-Russian plane collision, urged that the Soviet commander, Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky:

(1) Require that the Americans, British and French give 24 hours' notice of their flights through corridors over the Russian occupation zone, with "details about the planes and their passengers."

(2) Prohibit those allies from making any corridor flight by night, in clouds, in the stratosphere or under other circumstances "in which the plane cannot be seen from the ground."

The commission said only such "strict regulations" could prevent a repetition of accidents like the April 5 crash here between a British Viking transport and a Soviet Yak-3 fighter. The collision killed 12 British.

tons, two Americans and the Russian pilot.

The Russian report, which took up a full page in the official Soviet newspaper Tsegliche Rundschau, blamed a British violation of air safety regulations for the accident. It said the British should be made to pay for indemnities for the plane and to the dead pilot's family.

The British already had held their own investigation, blamed the Russians for the crash and said they would ask for indemnities. Efforts toward a joint investigation had failed.

New "Red" Plan
The latest Russian move came as some top American officials said they believe the Russians intend to kill Berlin's Allied Kommandantura, only four-power organization still functioning here.

The Russians Tuesday proposed that henceforth Kommandantura meetings be scheduled only from one session to the next, rather than the customary month in advance.

"That would give them an excuse to reduce the number of meetings by claiming they could not show up," one American official commented.

TRUSTEES OF FUND TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

By NORMAN WALKER

Washington, April 22 (AP)—John L. Lewis moved today to put his $100 a month miners' pension plan into effect—despite blunt notice that he may have to foot the bill himself.

The mine union boss called a late afternoon meeting (4:30 p. m., EST) of the three-man trustee board responsible for administering the still-untapped $32,000,000 miners' welfare fund.

The purpose of the session presumably was to consider definite rules for paying $100 monthly pensions to miners 62 or older. Such payments were agreed upon in principle by two of the three trustees, Lewis, representing the union, and Senator Styles Bridges (R-N. H.), the neutral member.

Plan Held Illegal

Ezra Van Horn, the third trustee, representing the coal mine owners, filed suit yesterday asking that Lewis and Bridges be held personally liable for any money spent from the fund on the Lewis-Bridges pact terms.

Van Horn said the plan is illegal under the Taft-Hartley labor act for two main reasons:

1. Bridges never had any legal right to vote on how the money is to be spent, because the law says the employer representative is the one to do the agreeing—and Van Horn disagreed to the Lewis-Bridges plan.

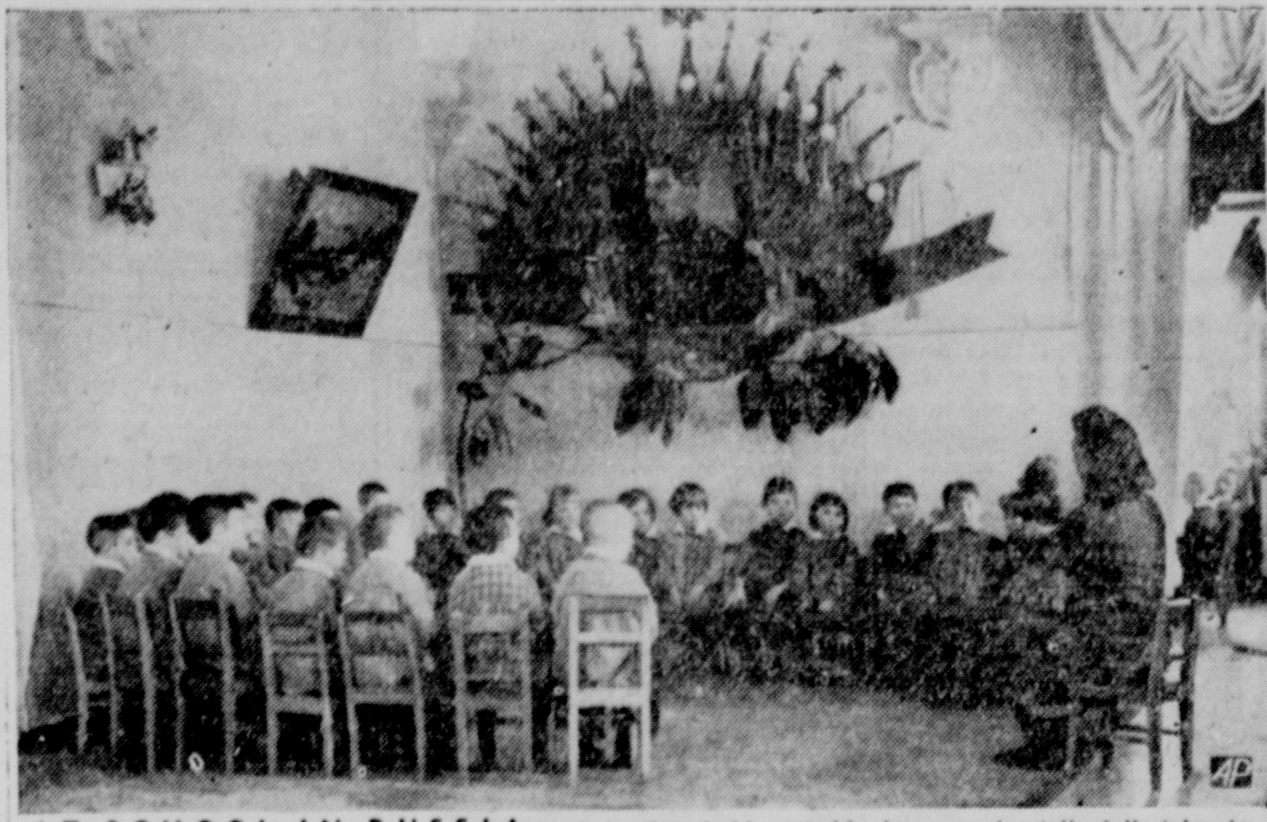

2. The reason he disagreed to it was that it would pay pensions to miners for whom no contributions have been made to the fund. He said this, too, is barred by law.

Court Date Friday

Meanwhile the coal strike showed no sign of coming to a complete halt today despite a Federal Court injunction that it end. Lewis already has been fined $20,000 and his United Mine Workers Union $1,400,000 for criminal contempt for failing to obey an original restraining order.

And the federal judge who did the fining, T. Alan Goldsborough, has ordered Lewis to be back in court tomorrow morning for sentencing on civil contempt of the strike-end order. There was every indication it would go hard for Lewis if his men aren't back by then.

Van Horn's suit asks a court order to prevent spending any of the fund on the temporary basis worked out by Bridges and Lewis. But the injunction can't be issued for some time because, under court rules, Bridges and Lewis have 20 days to answer the suit.

Van Horn's Position

The reason Van Horn wants the injunction, he said, is to "protect himself from any personal liability arising out of any improper or illegal disbursement from said fund."

In other words, Van Horn feels that if he allows the fund to be spent in a manner he considers illegal he may be held personally responsible later on.

Van Horn said he thinks it violates the Taft-Hartley law to pay pensions to miners who retired before July 1, 1947—the date the present contract took effect—or to miners whose employers are not paying royalties into the fund. The Lewis-Bridges plan would do both.

About 40,000 miners eligible for pensions under the plan, Van Horn estimates, are members of Lewis' union but are not employed by coal mine owners who pay royalties.

LEWIS' LOSSES MORE APPARENT THAN HIS GAINS

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, April 22 (AP)—What did John L. Lewis gain by the coal strike and what was lost?
It isn't certain that Lewis gained anything. He supposedly won a pension for his miners. But now there's a court fight over that.
But what was lost is clear. For the one month in which no miner worked and no coal was dug this happened:
The miners lost about $106,274,000 in wages.
Their welfare fund lost between $4,000,000 and $5,200,000.
Coal not mined—about $2,000,000 tons.
Those figures can be considered a minimum. The full strike lasted from mid-March till mid-April. But in the past week many thousands of miners stayed away from work. So coal production has been spotty.
In addition to the figures listed above, there were these losses: The miners' union was fined $1,400,000 for contempt of court. Lewis was fined $20,000 for contempt of court, too.
As to what Lewis may have gained—
Under the contract with the mine owners, signed last July. Lewis and the owners were supposed to agree on a pension plan for the miners. The money was to come out of the Welfare fund, paid for by the owners.

Gave Up Demands
Lewis wanted $100 a month pension for every miner who has reached 60 years of age and worked 20 years in the mines, no matter when he reached 60 or finished his 20 years' work.
The owners said that under the Taft-Hartley Labor law, passed last July, no one could get the pension who hadn't been working since the contract was signed last July.
Finally Lewis accepted a plan suggested by Senator Bridges, New Hampshire Republican. Under this any miner who finished 20 years' work and reached 62 since May 29, 1946, can get a pension.
Rejected Better Plan
But Lewis turned down what some people think was a better plan—if he had accepted it there would have been no strike at all—offered months ago. This was a plan by Thomas E. Murray, New York businessman who, with Lewis, representing the miners, and Ezra Van Horn, representing the owners, made up a three-man board of trustees to decide on a plan.
Murray suggested $100 a month pension—on a priority basis—for all miners who had reached 60 and completed 20 years work since July 1, 1942.
There's a chance Lewis may not get the plan he accepted from Senator Bridges. The owners have gone

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Deatrick entertained the Friendship Circle of "The Pines" Lutheran church, New Chester, at their home on Tuesday evening.
No improvement is reported in the condition of Henry Moul, who has been confined to bed for several months at the home of a son, Paul H. Moul, and family, near Pine Run schoolhouse.
Mrs. Aaron Pressel was hostess Tuesday evening at her home where the Always Faithful class of the into court to stop it, saying it's against the law.
Made Gains Before
But Lewis in other strikes has led the miners to great gains. In January 1939 the soft coal miners—the ones who were in this strike—averaged earnings of $23.88 a week for an average work week of 27 hours.
In January, 1948, the average weekly earnings were $75.91 for an average work week of about 41 hours.
By comparison, the steelworkers' average weekly earnings in January, 1939, were $28.40 for an average work week of 33 hours. In January, 1948, they averaged $60.46 for 40 hours work.

First Lutheran Church school conducted a meeting.
The David E. Winebrenner 3rd, family were among guests at the Hanover Country club during the past week where a celebration was given in celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. Winebrenner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Winebrenner, Jr., Hanover.

Great, rock foundations that not even an earthquake could budge! Walls like those of a fortress! Why this precaution? Because even slight vibration causes fermentation to speed up. ## ASSAIL DUFF FOR ENTERING PRIMARY NOW

Harrisburg, April 22 (AP) — Gov. James H. Duff's entry into the Dauphin county Republican primary in behalf of state Republican chairman M. Harvey Taylor "is a most unusual procedure," a Taylor opponent claims.

The assertion was made by John McI. Smith, Harrisburg attorney, in connection with the slating of the governor as the principal speaker at a GOP organization rally here tonight. Smith is backing Walter M. Mumma, Harrisburg businessman, for the state senate seat now held by Taylor.

The governor, Smith said in a radio talk last night, "is not supposed to discriminate in any way in carrying out the duties of his office but here we have the governor who is a registered voter in the borough of Carnegie, county of Allegheny, getting into a primary fight in the county of Dauphin."

Peaceful Meeting
Other developments in the heated Dauphin county primary campaign included:

Meeting of Senator Taylor and Mumma on the same platform last night without any verbal fireworks. Both the opposing candidates told the non-partisan Harrisburg league of Women voters they will give full support to the platform of the GOP party in Pennsylvania. Neither referred to the other by name.

Plans of Mumma and four other independent Republican candidates for the state legislature to stand on the state capitol steps to receive any proof of opposition charges they have "ever, directly or indirectly, received assistance from the Democratic national committee."

Walter Sohn, Dauphin county solicitor, said Tuesday night "The national Democratic party machine is dumping money into the Dauphin county Republican primary like it has never been dumped before." The charge was promptly denied by Benjamin Wolfe, chairman of the independent Republican Clean Government committee.

Voters Hear Platform
All the Dauphin county legislative candidates, both Republican and Democratic, appeared at the town meeting sponsored by the League of Women voters. A nearly two-hour long speaking program was closed with a brief question period.

Taylor told the group he never avored $100-a-month expenses for lawmakers enacted by the 1947 legislature. He commented he had "never taken a penny" of the money since the law was passed giving $2,400 to each legislator for expenses and clerk hire during a two-year term. He made the comment in response to one of two questions directed at him.

To a query about his stand on the city manager form of government, Taylor said "You would have to give me a little more argument on that" before he would be ready to support such a measure.

Earlier in his speech Taylor said he will devote all his energies to carrying out Governor Duff's program and then recounted the actions of the 1947 legislature.

Mumma in his address said the main platform of the independents was "anti-Taylorism" and called for a law banning contributions by public employees in any primary election.

LESS SMOKE IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, April 22 (AP) — The smoky city was 39 per cent less smoky last winter, according to the United Smoke Council of the Allegheny Conference of Community development.

The council issued a report which stated:

"There's less smoke. Visitors comment on it. Pittsburgh is losing its reputation as the 'Smoky City.' Out-of-towners are buying property here. Industries are interested in locating and expanding here.

"There's less soot. Tests by the Bureau of Smoke Prevention showed considerable reduction in dust and soot fall. This past winter there was no smog."

There have been other viewpoints taken. On three occasions, housewives jammed city council meetings to fight against smoke control. Some declared their curtains got dirty quicker than ever from "smokeless" coal.

Although Canada is now becoming industrialized, more than half of its population ten years ago was engaged in agriculture.

MARKETING with Marjorie

In the spring a housewife's fancy rightly turns to thoughts of cleaning. But she still can't neglect thoughts of food for her brood. Below—some of mine:

LIGHTNING LUNCH

When hungry small fry come tearing into the house just as you're in the midst of tearing it apart, split, toast, and butter as many MARVEL SANDWICH ROLLS as they can eat (at least 2 apiece if they're as fond of A&P's delicious, oven-fresh rolls as my youngsters are!) ... spread with peanut butter, jelly or cheese and sound roll call! P. S. Here's another hunch for lunch: MARVEL SANDWICH ROLLS with chopped round steak. They make a hamburger heaven!

SPEEDY SUPPER

Do you have to hustle to rustle up supper on cleaning day? Serve A&P's ANN PAGE PREPARED SPAGHETTI in its own tasty tomato and cheese sauce. Or combine a can of it with a cup of sliced onions sautéed in fat; pile into lengthwise halves of green peppers (boiled 5 mins. in salted water); place in shallow baking dish with a little water, and bake in moderate oven, 375° F., 25 mins. Serves 4.

LINOLEUM LOW-DOWN

If "water, water everywhere" is your spring-cleaning slogan, remember: Linoleum, like small boys, doesn't take kindly to too much water. Wash it with as little as possible, working in a small area at a time. When dry, apply BRIGHT SAIL LIQUID WAX, which requires no rubbing or polishing. You'll take a shine to it and to all A&P's BRIGHT SAIL cleaning aids!

FISH FLASH

For an extra-easy dish, choose fillets of fish! And for an extra-flavorful fillet, fill it! Like this: Wipe 1 lb. of fillets with damp cloth. Melt 1 tbsp. shortening. Add 1/2 onion (diced), 1/2 green pepper (diced), and sauté 5 mins. Add 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce and a 27-oz. can of tangy A&P SAUERKRAUT. Spread on fillets; roll like jelly roll and fasten with toothpicks. Put remaining filling in greased casserole with fillets on top and bake in hot oven, 400° F., 25 minutes. Serves 4.

CONCESSIONS TO RUSSIA BY U.S. RULED OUT AGAIN

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, April 22 (AP)—An Associated Press story said: "The United States delegation gave every indication of standing toughly against any further concessions to Russia on major controversies of the United Nations. . . ."

"Apparently backed to the hilt by President Truman, some of the U. S. delegates let it be known in public and off-the-record conversations that they believe this country has gone far enough in attempting to satisfy the Soviets. . . ."

Sound familiar? Sounds like something that was written today, or yesterday or last week. But it wasn't.

Same in 1945
It was written in San Francisco April 25, 1945, the day the Allies opened their first meeting there to create the United Nations to keep peace.

The argument that day was over Russia's demand for three votes in the U. N. General Assembly, whenever it was formed. This country has made some concessions to Russia since that day in 1945. But what was written that day by an AP reporter in San Francisco has now become the foreign policy of this country.

The policy is: No more concessions to Russia. It's a policy backed by President Truman and Congress.

Anniversary Near
Next Sunday, April 25, is the third anniversary of the opening of the San Francisco conference to create U. N. And in those three years some of this country's most important decisions have been made outside the U. N. for example:

Sending arms to Greece and Turkey to stop Communism and setting up the European Recovery Program (ERP) to stop it.

In the past month two things which happened show pretty plainly U. N.'s dilapidated condition although it still is chugging along.

In Talking Stage
Secretary of Defense Forrestal told Congress: We must have strong military reserves—trained men—until U. N. itself is able to keep peace. How long will we need to keep men trained? For at least 50 years, Forrestal indicated. When you put Forrestal's words together they add up to one thing: he doesn't expect U. N. to be able to keep peace for years to come.

NEW DRESS—Actress Joan Fontaine wears a cocoa brown shantung jacket dress and flowered hat of brown straw.

And in Congress there are a number of suggestions for revising the U. N. setup to try to make it work better.

It is only in the talking stage, really. Congress may not take any steps toward a change in U. N. But the talk makes it clear that, after three years, many Congress members think U. N. has had miserable success in its most important field: Keeping peace.

3RD FUGITIVE IS CAPTURED

Mercer, Pa., April 22 (AP)—State police last night rounded up the last of three youths who broke out of the Butler county jail last Saturday night.

The fugitive, 20-year-old Clarence P. Zarnick, held for trial on an auto theft charge, was halted in a stolen car by a police road-block at the Mercer borough limits. He did not resist arrest. Officers said road-blocks had been maintained on various highways the last four days.

The tip-off came when Karl F.

Muckinhaupt phoned state police headquarters that his automobile had been stolen from in front of his house at Meadville. A half hour later Zarnick was taken in custody. Police said he was driving the Muckinhaupt car.

The other two fugitives, Thomas J. Manny, 19, and Ellsworth Buchanan, 20, gave up without a struggle when police surprised them at the edge of a wood near Utica, Pa.

All three broke out of Butler county jail by climbing up an air-vent to the roof, lowering themselves to a second-story window, then jumping to the ground. Officers said the men while at liberty stole two pistols and at least seven automobiles in their attempted escape from the western Pennsylvania area.

ITALIAN REDS MAY REVERSE STAND ON AID

By JOHN P. MCKNIGHT

Rome, April 22 (AP)—Italy's Communists, overwhelmed in the election, received a hint from their top labor leader Wednesday of an about-face on the Marshall plan.

The Communists opposed Marshall plan aid throughout the campaign. Smarting from their worst defeat in free voting, the Communists also faced the possibility of a serious rift with some of their left wing Socialist allies.

To Control Parliament

With nearly complete returns apparently assuring the American-backed Christian Democrats of control of both houses of parliament, Giuseppe Di Vittorio of the Communist-dominated general confederation of labor indicated it wants to take a stand on American aid independent of Moscow.

Official returns on all but 155 of the 41,647 precincts in the chamber of deputies election gave the Christians Democrats 48.7 per cent of the vote, a total of 12,681,527. The Communist-led popular front had 7,995,901, or 30.7 per cent. In third place were the anti-Communist Socialists, with 1,848,326, or 7.1 per cent.

Final official returns on the Senate vote gave the Christian Democrats 10,740,131 or 47.9 per cent; the Popular Front, 6,955,229, or 31 per cent, and the Anti-Communist Socialists, 1,580,722, or seven per cent.

Big Anti-Red Vote

This Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democrats seemed assured of being able to form a government with the independent socialists, with whom they are closely allied in the present government. The Christian Democrats apparently do not even need the support of the other anti-Communist minor parties.

The total anti-Communist vote of all parties in the chamber race, on the basis of the nearly complete returns, was 17,030,386, and in the Senate vote, final official returns, 15,282,582.

The minor party vote breaks down this way: Chamber of Deputies: Monarchists, 729,283; Republicans, 650,217; Italian social movement, 524,967; National Bloc, 56,978, all others, 539,488. Senate: National Bloc, 1,364,741; Republicans, 637,443; Monarchists, 436,497; Italian social movement, 244,646; all others, 278,351.

NEW RIVER BODY

Harrisburg, April 22 (AP)—A newly organized technical committee today tackled the tough job of clearing pollution from the strategic Potomac river basin. The committee was set up by the interstate commission for the Potomac river basin at the conclusion of a two-day meeting here yesterday.

Spring Plowing Is Delayed By Rains

Harrisburg, April 22 (AP)—Steady rains and wet soil delayed plowing for spring crops in Pennsylvania, the state Agriculture Department reported.

The department said some oats have been planted and a few fields are showing green, but most of the planting remains to be done.

Cherry and pear trees are in full bloom in central counties, while peach blossoms are coming out in the southeast. Freezing temperatures and frost caused some damage to cherry bloom and peach and apple buds over the week-end.

Striking 'Gushers' In Arctic Oil Hunt

Olympia, Wash., April 22 (AP)—The Washington state adjutant general says the navy is striking "gushers" in one out of every seven oil wells it is drilling in the Arctic.

Brig. Gen. Ensley Llewellyn, who returned from the Arctic last year, made the statement Tuesday in an address at the Capitol City Press club.

He said he was at liberty to reveal that navy development of oil fields in the far north is "normal." "By normal," he said, "I mean that one in every seven wells drilled is a gusher." The area, he added, covers 32,000 square miles within the Arctic circle, stretching out from Point Barrow, Alaska.

tomac river basin. The committee was set up by the interstate commission for the Potomac river basin at the conclusion of a two-day meeting here yesterday.

TRY 'STARVATION DIET' ONE WEEK

Philadelphia, April 22 (AP)—Fourteen Philadelphia school children and five teachers are going to live on a "starvation diet" for one week, starting Saturday, to learn at first hand how it feels to eat as many European children now do.

The experiment was planned to dramatize the fund-raising campaign of Philadelphia's Crusade for Children, campaign officials said yesterday.

During the week the children and teachers will live at a hotel under medical supervision. All volunteers, they will be given this diet daily: Bean soup, black bread, powdered milk and a spoonful of cod liver oil for dessert.

At the end of the week the children and teachers will be guests of honor at a special banquet with all the trimmings. Others attending the banquet, however, will eat bean soup and black bread.

Gov. Duff Points Way To Avoid War

Beaver Falls, Pa., April 22 (AP)—Governor James H. Duff said Tuesday that the best way for America to prevent a third world war is to be ready to retaliate upon any aggressor so violently that no one would be willing to take the risk.

Our defense, the governor told a centennial celebration at Geneva college, "must be so well prepared and dispersed x x x that it can survive any possible type or combination of types of surprise attack."

"Thereafter," he continued, "we must be able to retaliate with such comprehensive violence that no sane nation would risk the annihilating violence of that retaliation by making a surprise attack upon us."

"Stepping up of U. S. defense," he asserted, "is particularly vital in view of Russia's consistently belligerent attitude." He said, however, "we should not go to the other extreme of expending unnecessarily great sums on defense."

Rep. Eaton Wins In Jersey Race

Newark, N. J., April 22 (AP)—Rep. Charles A. Eaton (R-N. J.), 80-year-old chairman of the House foreign affairs committee, won a three-way fight for renomination in New Jersey's Fifth Congressional District Tuesday.

With returns still incomplete, Eaton's principal opponent, Mayor John

Roach of Dover, conceded defeat. A third contender, Attorney Paul Kennedy of Perth Amboy, was hopelessly out of the running.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, feel happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances "old stomach" and the ever-changing blood need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength, in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

STATE CHAMBER CITES THREAT TO PA. IN TVA

Harrisburg, April 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania's industrial expansion is threatened by the proposed expansion of the power facilities of the Tennessee Valley Authority says the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber said the move "would amount to an out and out effort to lure industries to the TVA area through 'cheap power' to the detriment of employment opportunities and business welfare in such states as Pennsylvania."

The Authority proposes to install a stream general plant which "would bear no relation to flood control and navigation—the objective set forth in the original TVA legislation," the Chamber added.

At the same time the commission took stands on these other issues: It endorsed immediate enactment of selective service legislation and a measure introduced by U. S. Sen. Edward Martin to speed up the recovery of iron and steel scrap from government installations overseas.

It opposed the Taft bill providing $300,000,000 a year for Federal aid to education and the Wagner-Elender-Taft bill for Federal aid to housing.

The Chamber said Federal aid to education would be "an entering wedge to Federal control of our school." And the housing measure, it said, would not solve the critical housing shortage but would actually hamper "the private building industry by competing with it for scarce materials and labor."

On selective service, the Chamber said it would "fill the immediate manpower needs for our armed services better than would a program of universal military training."

See Delay Ahead On Renominations

Washington, April 22 (AP)—The off-again, on-again atomic energy commission renominations bumped into one certain delaying factor today. Still others may keep the whole issue open until next year.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) served notice in an interview that he will fight any confirmation move until President Truman has acted on a pending bill to give senators a look

East Berlin

East Berlin — Renovation is being made to the Reading township property near here which was bought some time ago from Mr. and Mrs. William E. Brown by their grandson, Earl Cleaver, and where he will later make his home with his recent bride, the former Miss Mildred Decker.

Larry, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Eisenhart, has recovered from an attack of mumps with which he was seriously ill for a time.

The local high school band, directed by Harold W. Sanders, is preparing to give a concert for the public at the auditorium of their school on Friday evening. Posters, made by the students, have been distributed to local business places to announce the coming event.

A class of children of Paradise Catholic parish will receive their first Holy Communion at the Rectory chapel on Sunday, April 25, at the 8:30 mass celebrated by the at FBI reports on commission appointments.

Knowland is the author of that bill. It passed the Senate over sharp Democratic opposition earlier this month but still awaits action by the House.

The Californian also is a member of the Senate atomic energy committee which must pass on the renominations of Chairman David E. Lilienthal and his four commission colleagues before their names can be put into the Senate for a vote.

"JAM SESSION"... TELEPHONE STYLE

Telephone "jam sessions" occur when too many people try to make calls at the same time. With the telephone industry handling a record number of telephone calls daily, these "jams" are sometimes unavoidable. But you can help us reduce their frequency. Whenever possible, make local calls during low-busy hours. Make long distance calls after 6 PM or on Sunday, when you'll benefit by lower rates. And if you should have a few seconds' wait when telephoning—please be patient. You will be served as soon as a line is open.
